Stevenson Attacks Ike's Crusade; Eisenhower Hits 'Dirty' Campaign

Ike Charges Opponents 'Desperate'

New York (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower last night accused President Truman and Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of "unrestrained slander" and said the Democrats are waging a "dirty" campaign—"the most scurrilous in American political history."

Eisenhower did not call the President and Stevenson by name, but he left no doubt he was talking about them in an address prepared for delivery at a Madison Square Garden rally and for nationwide television and radio.

In angry language, Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee, declared that in his life time he has been worked over by "poison pen" experts in Nazi Germany and Russia.

"But until our success in this campaign drove our opponents to desperation, no one had ever engaged in such unrestrained slander as to charge I would trim my principles to run for office," he added.

Both Truman and Stevenson, along with some other Democrats, have made precisely that charge against the general.

Earlier, in a day long tour of New York City, Eisenhower called attention to the firing Wednesday night of an official of the Democratic National Committee, who stood to profit from a government purchase of tungsten ore.

Eisenhower called him "the biggest 5 percentor of all" and said: "They had to fire him last night because someone else caught up with him. It keeps going on and on . . . Is that the kind of government you put your trust in?"

Speaking during the day in Staten Island, Manhattan and Brooklyn, the general had rapped back hard at Stevenson, declaring there is no easy way out of the Korean War—only a long, hard, weary way.

The GOP nominee told a police estimated crowd of 250,000 persons in Manhattan's garment district: "No man has ever heard me say there is an easy way out of the Korean War. It's a long, hard, weary way."

His Democratic opponent has contended that Eisenhower and other Republicans have implied there is an easy way.

In his speech last night, the general said the Democrats have been trying to put across the idea that he has changed since winning the GOP nomination last July.

"It is they who have changed," the general declared. "Because they could not exploit me, they are determined to destroy me; to destroy my lifelong friendship, my reputation, my spirit."

"But, ladies and gentlemen, I have been through real bombardments and I am unscathed by their fusillade of blanks and blankety-blanks."

Washington (AP) — Jess Larson, chief buyer of critical materials for the government, said yesterday someone under his supervision failed to notify him that a nine million dollar tungsten contract called for a fee to Col. Lawrence Westbrook, fired Wednesday night as a Democratic National Committee official.

Larson told a news conference that thus far he has found no evidence of "wrongdoing or influence" in his agencies in connection with the contract. But he said he has ordered a "full-scale, top to bottom investigation," will publicly disclose all findings and, if there is evidence of wrongdoing, will refer it to the Justice Department.

Westbrook was dismissed by Stephen A. Mitchell, Democratic national chairman, shortly after the New York Herald Tribune published a copyrighted story terms the case "the biggest 5 per center deal ever exposed in Washington."

In Dallas, Westbrook denied yesterday that he had used or attempted to use his Democratic National Committee position to influence the awarding of the contract.

Westbrook was dismissed by Stephen A. Mitchell, Democratic national chairman, shortly after the New York Herald Tribune published a copyrighted story terms the case "the biggest 5 per center deal ever exposed in Washington."

Motor Club Delegation Tours County With State Highway Officials, Offers Suggestions To Ease Traffic Problems

The State Highway Department showed what it's been doing in Monroe County in the past year and got some ideas on future highway development yesterday.

The highways were gone over in words and in cars by three highway officials and three members of Pocono Mountains Automobile Club. The tour took about four hours.

These were some of the specific suggestions by Automobile Club members LeRoy Dengler, president; Gerald P. O'Neill, vice-president; and Elwood Huffman, member of the club's highway committee:

One—Building of more roads and improved highways to carry traffic through rural sections of the county.

Two—Bettering of roads carrying traffic from the Lehigh Valley and Wind Gap areas into the Pocono area.

Three—Better continuation of Route 402 from Silver Lake to the end of the new Delaware Bridge, now under construction; also, better alignment of Route 402 — straightening out some of the curves.

Four—Better placement of a number of highway stop signs, (for better visibility) such as those at the intersections of Route 402 with the Minisink Hill road, and 115 with 209.

Club members also had some questions to ask of highway officials, Arthur Dinstel, Monroe County highway superintendent; Russell E. Boyer, district engineer of the northeast area; and Allan MacMillin, maintenance engineer for the Allentown district.

One question was about the northeastern extension of the Pennsylvania turnpike: would it come through Monroe County, and if so, where?

The answer: no word has been passed down yet on where the extension will run, but traffic studies are being made at present.

Another question, somewhat more immediate, where and how will traffic from the new Delaware Bridge be dispersed to the main arteries in the county? Will it pass through or around Stroudsburg?

The answer: A traffic survey was made last Spring, but the results haven't been completely tabulated. The final tabulation is expected in about a month, and then some fairly definite ideas should be forthcoming.

And, questioned club members, how will Delaware Water Gap residents get to Stroudsburg on Route 402 without being held up too long by traffic from the new bridge?

An underpass and ramp, if put in, would cost about $300,000 more. This is not contemplated in present plans. It may be necessary to put in a traffic light to halt traffic from the bridge and allow borough traffic to cross. The final answer hasn't been made yet.

The tour took the six men through the Marshalls Creek and Delaware Valley areas to see some new road jobs completed by the State; then to the Delaware Water Gap area where they watched construction work near the Crossdale

Laboratories for a few minutes; on to the West End and Kunkletown section where a new road is under construction; then to the new State Highway Department shed which is under construction.

This job will cost between $450 and $500 thousand, complete. The highway men said they hoped to be able to move in by the first of the year.

The shed, on Route 611 between Bartonsville and Stroudsburg, will serve as headquarters for the department in Monroe County, will house equipment and maintenance departments, storerooms and administrative offices. The department still will use its East Stroudsburg shed and grounds on Day St., the club members were told.

Boyer said the highway department plans to accomplish as much of its bridge work as possible this Fall and Winter, especially if the weather remains open.

This will avoid tying up traffic during the tourist season next Spring and Summer, he said.

Kiwanis Club To Provide Free Transportation To Polls For Those Asking It

Renewing their program to "get-out-the-vote," the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club will devote Tuesday to transporting area persons to polling places, with four cars on duty at the Penn-Stroud Hotel from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m.

Eric Schuchard, chairman of the project, disclosed last night the Kiwanians will work in three shifts in an effort to take registered voters to the voting machines, emphasizing the policy is non-partisan.

A telephone extension will be in operation in the hotel lobby and persons requesting transportation are urged to phone the hotel and acknowledge their desire to vote. Drivers will alternate during the day, using their own cars parked alongside the hotel.

Three cars were used in the primary election, Tuesday's elec-

Club Drafting Final Plans For Election

The Junior Women's Club get-out-the-vote tag day organization will be completed today. Arrangements to set up a central baby-sitting operation for club members with small children who have volunteered for the project also began to take shape last night.

Mrs. James Cummings, named by Mrs. Richard Fredenberg to direct the project for Junior Women under the sponsorship of The Daily Record and Radio Station WVPO, said Girl Scouts had called and volunteered their expert services as baby sitters for the club members.

Exact location of the baby sitting project will be announced today.

Leaders who will direct the distribution of the red, white and blue shields bearing the inscription "I Have Voted, Have You?" worked hard yesterday to complete the teams which will work at polling places in the Stroudsburg, Middle Stroud and Smithfield Townships.

Mrs. Cummings said the list will be completed today. Every voter casting a ballot will receive one of the colorful non-partisan shields at the polls. They will be asked to wear it so that other eligible voters will be reminded to cast a ballot before polls close at 8 p. m.

The Daily Record and Radio Station WVPO will distribute the shields to election boards in other portions of the county Monday.

This effort to make election day "Tag Day" is the first of its kind ever employed on an election day in Monroe County. The newspaper and radio, purchased 20,000 of the shields for the campaign.

Shawnee Cubs Join Drive To Get Out Vote

Shawnee—Good Citizenship knows no age limits, and the Cub Scouts of Shawnee are doing their share to get out the votes on Election Day. They will meet on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 at Worthington Hall and have a bicycle hike through the village and surrounding area, with horns and whistles calling attention to the coming election and urging everyone to vote on November 4. Richard Lee is cubmaster of the pack which includes Joel Huffman, Bob Reeves, Laird Patterson, Michael Heller, Jimmy Park, John Fetherman, George Fuller.

Allies Regain Crest, Free Trapped Men

Seoul (AP) — Allied troops today won back the crest of Triangle Hill in Central Korea less than nine hours after overwhelming numbers of Chinese Reds had seized it.

The re-occupation, a recovery from the Allies' worst setback in 18 days of battle, was reported at 11 a. m. by a U. S. Eighth Army officer.

The earlier Red attack had broken through Allied lines so swiftly that an Allied company was trapped on the height.

Bitter hand-to-hand fighting not only won the crest but also carried reinforcements to the once trapped company which then opened a counterattack.

One Injured In Collision

One man was seriously injured late last night when the sedan he was driving crashed into the side of a tractor-trailer on Route 12 about a mile and a half west of Bartonsville.

Details of the accident were not available early today, but it was understood the collision occurred as the truck was pulling onto Route 12 from a dirt road. The car struck about midway along the side of the trailer, which was at an angle across the highway and virtually blocking it, witnesses said. The left front of the sedan became wedged under the truck and pinned the driver in his seat.

An ambulance was called and the motorist, said to be from Honesdale, was rushed to General Hospital. His name was not immediately determined.

Investigators Find Mask Inflammable

Washington, (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission said last night it is investigating the distribution of an inflammable Halloween mask. It wants to determine whether the mask burns as fast as to be dangerous and whether it should take action.

The FTC report described the mask as the domino type, covering only eyes and nose and with a lacey fringe. It is made entirely of plastic.

"It burns fast, all right," he said.

Says Rival Abandoned Principles

Pittsburgh (AP) — Gov. Adlai Stevenson won a tumultuous reception in this steel center last night and declared the "great crusade" of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has become "the great masquerade."

The Democratic presidential candidate told a cheering crowd of 13,000 that filled the Hunt Armory that his Republican opponent had abandoned the GOP principles of Abraham Lincoln.

Stevenson, unleashing a direct attack on the Republican presidential nominee, accused him of changing his views depending on where he was speaking and of becoming a prisoner of the Republican "Old Guard."

He said that when Eisenhower was in the Midwest one saw the hand of Sen. Robert A. Taft "and all associated isolationists" in the general's pronouncements.

The general, said Stevenson, seemed to view with no disfavor the program of Wisconsin's Republican Sen. Joseph McCarthy.

Stevenson said McCarthy caught more headlines than Communists. The crowd heartily booed McCarthy's name.

Stevenson came into the steel city—a CIO stronghold—after whistle stopping across the state from Philadelphia in a bid for Pennsylvania's 32 electoral votes.

Along the route, he accused the Republicans of "effrontery" and "shameless hypocrisy" for declaring the Truman administration had been soft toward Communism.

But he made a conciliatory move toward business. He declared that he intended to end "noisy and unnecessary war" between segments of business and government.

In his whistle stop campaign across Pennsylvania, Stevenson reeled off a list of anti-Communist actions taken by the Democrats.

Stevenson said the record showed it was the Democrats who recognized the Communist menace and took steps to meet it.

He blasted the Republican argument as "an insult to the people's intelligence."

The Illinois governor delivered his attack on the Communist issue in York, a manufacturing city which the Democrats carried in 1948. Police estimated the crowd at 5,000.

Earlier, in Reading, Stevenson pledged a "better break" for business as well as for labor and farmers.

Detroit (AP) — Dreams of a movie star career for her winsome, 17-year-old daughter led her to embezzle thousands of dollars from her employer, a repentant bookkeeper told police yesterday.

"Jill is a lovely girl," Mrs. Beatrice Hollingsworth was quoted as saying. "I needed the money to put her across and I just took it."

Mrs. Hollingsworth said she could remember taking only about $9,000. But prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien recommended a warrant changing her with embezzling $19,592 over a six-month period from the Kennett Anderson Co., and of forging a check for $989 more. Detectives said the total involved may have exceeded $25,000, all taken from the valve manufacturing firm.

Jill, a high school senior, had won some local talent acclaim by being picked girl-of-the-month in a beauty contest sponsored by Detroit's transit system last February. She now is a pupil at a Hollywood school for aspiring models and actresses.

Mrs. Hollingsworth, 47, said her husband was unaware of the embezzlements.

The Supreme Court Race

Overshadowed as it is by the presidential campaign, the election contest to fill a seat on the State Supreme Court should enlist the interest of all conscientious voters.

This is the court of final appeal for the state, and much of the integrity of our state judicial system depends on the makeup and excellence of the Supreme Court.

The framers of the state constitution put these judges beyond politics and beyond the necessity of standing for re-election every 10 years, as other judges must do. Supreme Court judges serve a term of 21 years, and are not eligible for re-election.

For this post, both parties have nominated judges with a record of service in lower courts. In each case, the candidates are qualified by learning, temperament and ability for advancement to the state's highest court.

Judge Harry M. Montgomery, of Allison Park, served four years on the County Court bench and was advanced to the Common Pleas Court in 1948. He served well in both courts, and, in 1949, received a surprisingly large vote for Superior Court, although losing the election.

Judge John C. Arnold, of Clearfield, was elected to the Superior Court in 1945. He is well known throughout the state and has distinguished himself both as a lawyer and as a judge.

The two parties acted wisely in presenting as candidates capable men who have proved their qualifications by service on the bench. In this case, the election will provide a valuable addition to the Supreme bench, however it turns out.

Beulah - a Great Soul

Communists hated Hattie McDaniel. Her talents, they said, were used to serve "white chauvinism."

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington—In the closing days of the 1952 presidential campaign it is apparent to Republicans and Democrats alike that the key to victory or defeat lies buried in the stubborn arrogance of President Harry S. Truman. The President refused to stay in the White House where the party's presidential nominee, Governor Adlai Stevenson, at first preferred to keep him. Neither could he refrain from dipping into the gutter in his attacks on the GOP nominee. In fact, he forced Stevenson to adopt the same campaign techniques of distorted accusations and predictions of economic and military doom if Eisenhower is elected.

President Truman won in 1948 with the same type of campaigning he is using at present. The only difference is one of degree. He was slightly more restrained in his false accusations four years ago.

Although the President won by a narrow margin in 1948, it inflated his sense of political prowess to the point where he forced his party and his nominee to adopt the record of his administration, including its graft, corruption and Communism.

The President is certain the people who have been listening to him, and the crowds have been large, will vote for the Democratic party. He will not tolerate any wavering from his viewpoint. In fact, he shoved Stevenson into the background despite the fact that the governor audibly shuddered when he first learned that the President would take the campaign trail. Now, however, Stevenson apparently is convinced that Mr. Truman was right all along and that he was wrong.

Stevenson is a captive candidate in every sense of the word. He has made only slight complaints about the "mess" in Washington, the thievery and political fixings, and only early in the campaign at that.

Since the opening days, following a brisk bawling-out delivered by Mr. Truman, Stevenson has been silent on the issues that have stunned the American people. He could have dissociated himself from the corrupt Truman political machine but he has not done so. One word from the President was sufficient to gag him.

But Hattie McDaniel, in her 54 years before her death Sunday, never once sacrificed the dignity and human values inherent in her race.

To most of us, Hattie McDaniel always will be Beulah, of the famous radio show. We will remember her as one who invariably taught that sympathy, love and understanding are a pretty good antidote for most of our problems—and that all decent, fair-minded folk, whatever their creed or color, can get along together if they try.

The world is a better place for Hattie McDaniel's having lived in it.

Light the Lamps

Out in St. Louis the Citizens Committee for More Votes has a plan which they hope will get more citizens to the polls.

The Committee is urging St. Louisians to leave their porch lights on from 8 to 9 p.m. on election eve.

There is no explanation of what people are to do who live in apartments, basements or trailers.

That is something for St. Louis to worry about, however. And if turning on the front porch bulbs gets out more voters, that's fine.

What interests us more is whether those who do turn on their lights will show equal brilliance the next day when they vote.

White Sheet To White House
Facts have the everlasting grandeur of stars. They are beyond the reach of clouds and fog—both natural and man-made. Although some men may shut their eyes, stars continue shedding light. Similarly, facts have an enlightening constancy despite swirling storms of confusion and deceit.

It is a fact that Harry Truman was a member of the Klan. Obsolete denials and deliberate distortions may enlist the forces of darkness in the struggle against truth—but darkness intensifies the light of stars. The facts remain visible and invincible.

After our telecast, Roger Tubby, acting White House press secretary, stated: "There is no truth whatever to the statement that President Truman was ever a member of the Klan."

The ramparts of documentary evidence are not easily demolished. It is not enough to issue a denial or blandly dismiss the facts with a single sentence. The rebuttal demands a convincing proof. Truman has never buttressed his denials evidence. . . . The fact that Truman was a Klan member is based on seven sworn affidavits made by his fellow Klansmen and neighbors—who have known Harry Truman for many years. They did not merely state he was a member of the hooded outfit—but described his KKK activities in great detail.

The witnesses testified in sworn affidavits to seeing Harry S. Truman at Klan meetings open only to members; to knowledge of Truman's application for membership and its acceptance; to seeing Truman deliver a speech at a Klan meeting, wearing the Klan robe in "the light of three fiery crosses"; to being present when the Klan oath was taken by Truman, and to seeing Truman's membership and dues payment cards in Klan records.

When reporters discovered (in 1944) that Truman had been a Klan member—the Hearst papers assigned a team of reporters to work independently and check the story. After a lengthy and thorough investigation—the original story was fully corroborated.

After the 1944 disclosure that he was a Klansman—Truman contended he had always fought the Klan. Ironically, during the same year (when he was campaigning for the Vice Presidency) Truman toured Southern California and received a visit in his hotel room from Hal Styles, a candidate for Congress. . . . Truman was later informed that Styles had been exposed as a former Klansman and Exalted Cyclops of the KKK. Reporters then asked him whether he was endorsing Styles' candidacy.

Truman's reply: "I know nothing about his Ku Klux Klan or any other connection. But if he is one of ours, I'm for him."

One can understand, but not excuse the motives behind Truman's entrance in the Klan in 1922. The Klan at that time wielded great political influence in Missouri. A man of strong moral integrity might have resisted the lure of its power. Truman succumbed. . . . But there can be no valid explanation for Truman endorsing a former Klan leader as late as 1944. 'ME, TOO' CANDIDATE

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

Here are a few odd thoughts that went through my head one morning as I read my newspaper.

Incidentally, try it yourself sometime. Don't read what you see in PRINT. There is some awfully good stuff between the lines, if you will only use your imagination as well as your eyes.

This little item is about Butch, a hound dog in Rossville, Ga. He was chained under a burning house and couldn't get away. So he howled pitifully as the flames grew bigger and bigger over his head and all around him.

A passerby with a shotgun fired at the dog's head, intending to end its suffering since nobody could enter the burning house.

But instead of hitting the dog's head, the bullet just clipped his collar.

Butch, with a wild howl of joy, dashed off to a cooling brook nearby.

I was thinking of the time a friend of mine hit me straight in the head by telling me that if I sents the depths of political cynicism. Here was the shocking verification that Truman had not changed. The man who had been schooled by the Pendergast Mob's crude political expediency—still practiced this reprehensible form of power politics. . . . The Pendergast machine accepted any filthy method to attain an objective. This has been the perverted philosophy utilized by every demagogue and tyrant: The ends justify the means.

Mr. and Mrs. America—the same folks who are the basis for every variety of totalitarianism: Nazism, Fascism, Communism. Much of humanity's agony stems from leaders who allow political expediency to shatter moral decency.

Truman has argued that the story of his Klan membership in 1922 was fabricated by political foes. He further declared he was nailed many years ago. . . . Significantly, Truman never offered a fragment of evidence to support his claim that the charges are false. As for the political enemies concocting the story—the fact is that all but one responsible for the sworn affidavits are Democrats.

These Days - - By George E. Sokolsky

COMMUNISTS AT THE U. N.

First the Federal Grand Jury in New York and then the McCarran Committee have brought to light the cell of American Communists who have been using the United Nations as a base and a sanctuary. Credit for this magnificent job of investigation must go to Roy N. Cohen of the Department of Justice and Robert Morris of the McCarran Committee.

The vital question is: When is an American not an American while continuing to enjoy all the privileges and benefits of an American?

This is a tough one to answer. These hearings really started in May when the McCarran Committee called before it David Weintraub, director of Economic Stability and Development of the United Nations, a high official. The Committee counsel felt that it "became apparent that Mr. Weintraub had caused to be employed by the United Nations certain individuals." Mr. Weintraub had been in the State Department. The Committee in May was investigating the numerous activities of Owen Lattimore and it appears that Lattimore was recommended by Weintraub to a United Nations job having to do with economic assistance for Afghanistan. Yet the fact is that Lattimore is an expert neither on economics nor Afghanistan. This is Weintraub's testimony on the subject:

"Mr. Sourwine. Had anyone suggested to you that he (Lattimore) would be suitable . . . for a job of this kind or for employment by the United Nations?"

"Mr. Weintraub. I don't recollect anyone having suggested that to me."

"Mr. Sourwine. You just chose his name yourself?"

"Mr. Weintraub. I think so."

"Mr. Sourwine. Did you know him as an expert in Afghanistan matters?"

"Mr. Weintraub. No; I knew of him only as an expert in general Far-Eastern affairs."

"Mr. Sourwine. Did you know whether he had written anything about Afghanistan?"

"Mr. Weintraub. No; I did not."

"Mr. Sourwine. Did you know whether he had been in Afghanistan?"

"Mr. Weintraub. No; I did not."

"Mr. Sourwine. Do you consider Afghanistan a Far-Eastern nation?"

"Mr. Weintraub. Technically Afghanistan is classified as a Middle-Eastern country."

Yet, Weintraub believed that Lattimore is an expert on Afghanistan because he had been to Mongolia. If you look at a map, you will see how far-fetched that is. Also there is no linguistic relationship. Mr. Weintraub did not come off so well with that one and undoubtedly it opened the broad question as to who Weintraub is and whence derived his power.

David Weintraub came to the United States in 1921 at the age of 17 from Austrian Poland. He was naturalized in 1926. He studied at the City College of New York and Columbia University and was employed by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of which Sidney Hillman was the head. He was also employed by the National Bureau of Economic Research under Professor Leo Wolman of Columbia University. Wolman recommended Weintraub to Harry Hopkins who employed him in the Federal Emergency Relief Administration. His first international job was with UNRRA. However, he had also been employed by the War Production Board and the State Department. It was from UNRRA that he went to the United Nations. In the United Nations, Weintraub is in charge of economic planning for the entire world. With regard to that, his views are:

"Mr. Sourwine. Did you ever take the position that the Point Four program should be administered by an international organization and not by the United States?"

"Mr. Weintraub. Yes."

"Mr. Sourwine. Would you care to expand on that? You might feel that in justice to yourself you should do so."

"Mr. Weintraub. Yes. The program in question is a program of technical assistance for the economic development of underdeveloped countries. That question had been under discussion in the United Nations for years—meaning, by that, the General Assembly and the Economic and Social Council and various committees and commissions—and along with others I felt that that kind of activity is peculiarly suited for an international organization so as to put underdeveloped countries in a position of receiving economic assistance of that character from an organization of their own rather than receiving it on a bilateral basis from individual governments."

"I agree with that position, and I am sure I must have said so to many people at various times."

In the present line of investigation, the McCarran Committee is seeking apparently to discover why so large a cell of American Communists exists in the United Nations. The gist of David Weintraub's testimony has been a flat denial that he is the person responsible. In fact, he has denied on interrogation that he has recommended specified persons for employment. Thus far, no testimony had been adduced to the contrary. Nevertheless, it is important to note David Weintraub's story because many of those questioned by the Committee are in his department of the United Nations.

"Mr. Sourwine. Did you ever take the position that the Point Four program should be administered by an international organization and not by the United States?"

"Mr. Weintraub. Yes."

"Mr. Sourwine. Would you care to expand on that? You might feel that in justice to yourself you should do so."

"Mr. Weintraub. Yes. The program in question is a program of technical assistance for the economic development of underdeveloped countries. That question had been under discussion in the United Nations for years—meaning, by that, the General Assembly and the Economic and Social Council and various committees and commissions—and along with others I felt that that kind of activity is peculiarly suited for an international organization so as to put underdeveloped countries in a position of receiving economic assistance of that character from an organization of their own rather than receiving it on a bilateral basis from individual governments."

"I agree with that position, and I am sure I must have said so to many people at various times."

In the present line of investigation, the McCarran Committee is seeking apparently to discover why so large a cell of American Communists exists in the United Nations. The gist of David Weintraub's testimony has been a flat denial that he is the person responsible. In fact, he has denied on interrogation that he has recommended specified persons for employment. Thus far, no testimony had been adduced to the contrary. Nevertheless, it is important to note David Weintraub's story because many of those questioned by the Committee are in his department of the United Nations.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

Study In Timidity
That whirling noise you hear may be our forefathers turning over in their graves at the extreme caution, the intense hemming and hawing and the all-around high-powered quibbling going on over the kiddies of America starting off a school day with a slight reference to Supreme Being. Believe it or not, in this day of low standards, crookedness, juvenile delinquency, and world disorder, when emphasis on spiritual things is an admitted necessity, public-school officials are still dragging their feet over a simple school prayer, commended for all faiths and creeds. In New York only 300 out of 3,000 school districts have asked the prayer as recommended by a state board two years ago. It was a 21-word prayer, and just about as skimpy and cold as could be devised. Have a look at it:

"Almighty God, we acknowledge our dependence upon Thee, to go out and do something."

Payne, by the way, is one of the customers these days at salon. Gets his black hair reddened for his role as the pirate. His chest-growth he tints himself—with ammonia and soap-suds. Also his beard—with rouge.

Preview paragraphs: "Something for the Birds" is pleasant fare for moviegoers, too. Patricia Neal is an emissary trying to get Washington to save the condors from extinction in California. Seems they're threatened by a natural-gas development.

Victor Mature is a lobbyist representing, among others, the company developing the natural gas. His and Neal's opposing interests aren't apparent until the two are in love.

Edmund Gwenn keeps the comedy bubbling as a phony retired admiral. He attends the Capital's choicest social functions by flashing invitations he has filched from the engraving shop where he is employed.

The business of lobbying gets a rather sparkling coat of whitewash, and you sometimes wonder about the breed of congressmen depicted here. Oh, well, it's only a comedy, and a pretty enjoyable one at that.

Thousands Witness Annual Twin-Borough Hallowe'en Parade

Large Number Of Mummers Take Part

Thousands lined Main St. and Washington St. to watch hundreds of paraders march in outlandish costumes from Stroudsburg to East Stroudsburg last night.

The parade moved out promptly at 7 p.m., spearheaded by bands from a number of district schools and by the American Legion outfit dressed in everything but normal clothing.

The paraders began gathering at 6:30 p.m. on Main St., Stroudsburg, milling around in front of the Indian Queen Hotel and across the street in the YMCA grounds. Stroudsburg policemen kept the children and the passing traffic separated while numbers were being passed out and pinned to backs, and the mob of band members, baton-swinging young women, crazily-clad kids and zany-outfitted adults were split into divisions.

The rain date wasn't necessary. Skies were clear and the air cold but not bitter. Crowds of spectators lined the sidewalks and edges of the streets all along the parade route.

Fewer adults took part in the parade, compared with last year, leaving the affair more to the area's youngsters. But what adults there were laughed behind the anonymity of masks and appeared to enjoy themselves.

A fairly large number of floats were entered in the fourth division. Some of the best and most picturesque were those entered by the Poconos Camera Club and some of the local photo studios. These groups also had paraders on foot.

What looked for a moment like heavy traffic moving along right behind the floats turned out to be part of the parade. A local firm had entered a number of its heavy pieces of automotive equipment—trimmed with streamers—as "floats."

A non-partisan group on horses carried signs reminding spectators of the need for all residents to go to the polls and cast a vote next Tuesday. Several political floats were in line.

The parade wound into East Stroudsburg over a scheduled route, and moved past the judges' stand. Judges jotted down numbers of winners.

When the parade ended at the East Stroudsburg armory, the numbers were called off and the prizes distributed.

A dance followed, with the East Stroudsburg Dance Band furnishing the music.

Art Conference For Northeast Area Held Here

The second annual art conference at State Teachers College was held with teachers from the Northeastern district in attendance.

Activities consisted of an open forum discussion on problems of teaching art in the elementary schools and an observation program in the campus training school.

Mrs. Ford Warner of the Scioto school at Saylorburg and Miss Cora A. Lange of the Lake Ariel Public School served as moderators in the two discussion groups.

In the afternoon session of the conference, Dr. Viktor Lowenfeld,

HUNDREDS OF TOTS and toddlers in garish duds gave Stroudsburg residents more of a chuckle than a scare yesterday as they moved down Main St. in the annual Wyckoff Hallowe'en parade held at 4 p.m. These future voters received compensation in the form of lollypops, passed out by Wyckoff personnel. Children's Signs Given To Nixons

The grandchildren of an East Stroudsburg couple contributed indirectly to the campaign of Richard Nixon, GOP vice-presidential nominee in Norfolk, Va.

According to a letter received this week by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fraunfelder, 75 Washington St., East Stroudsburg, the two children of their daughter, Mrs. Albert Shively, 604 Earle St., Bayview, Va., showed up at a "Welcome Nixon" rally carrying homemade signs.

A clipping from the Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch said that Nixon stopped to talk with young Arthur Shively and admired the sign he and his sister Rosemary had made at home.

Nixon asked Arthur: "Did you make that yourself?" When the boy said "Yes," vice nominee Nixon told him:

"This is the best banner we've seen. May we have it? We'll take it home to our daughters." It was later learned that they had fulfilled their promise.

Also enclosed in the letter was a photograph showing Nixon's wife holding the two signs.

Luther League Conducts Party

The regular meeting of the Luther League of St. John's Lutheran Church on Wednesday night took the form of a Hallowe'en party. There was a large attendance of young people.

Preceding the party the members met for devotional and business session. The subject of the Reformation was presented and discussed with particular attention to the youthful life of Dr. Martin Luther.

Announcement was made that more than 100 Lutheran Church year calendars had been ordered by members of the congregation from the young people and that quite a few toys had been received. The young people will repair such toys and send them to the Lutheran Orphans Homes at Christmas.

Considerable mirth was in evidence during the social hour which marked the Hallowe'en party. Numerous games were enjoyed, followed by refreshments in the social room which was decorated with the Hallowe'en motif. Mrs. Russell Decker and Kathryn Yost are the advisers of the group.

Farmer Keeps Fire Confined To Grass Plot

Henryville — A serious forest fire was averted near here yesterday when a farmer stood guard to keep flames from jumping a firebreak while his son turned in the alarm.

Some three acres of grass were burned off before the Northern Stroud Fire Co. under Chief Robert Bates had the blaze out about 4:30 p.m.

The smoke and flames were first spotted by John Transue, who operates a farm in the neighborhood. The section which was ablaze lies along the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad tracks near here.

Fortunately the fire started between the tracks and a firebreak which had been bulldozed parallel to the tracks a few years ago by the railroad and the State Forestry Department.

But, said Chief Bates, "the wind was right for a bad fire, if the fire had jumped across the break."

To see that it didn't, Transue stayed to beat down flying sparks while his son, Harold, ran to telephone to Bates and the fire company.

The firemen arrived shortly after 3 p.m. George Raish, district forest inspector arrived with a man to help fight the blaze a little later. The railroad also sent some section men up to join the blaze, but the fire company had finished its job by the time the railroaders had gotten the word and arrived on the scene.

It was the only grass, brush or forest fire reported in the county yesterday, according to District Forester E. C. Pyle.

But throughout the day, and again today unless the rains come, foresters and firemen in rural areas will be on double alert.

By The Associated Press
Outdoor America's autumn enemy—fire—is on the broadest, most destructive and potentially most dangerous rampage in many years, a survey showed Thursday.

Reports from tinder dry states in much of the eastern half of the nation showed that nearly a million acres of rich timberlands, brush and grasslands have gone up in flame and smoke this month.

Damage runs into uncounted millions of dollars and the situation is more explosive now than it was at the start of the month.

Line Material Co. Plant At Kenova Leveled By Fire With Loss Of $1,000,000

The Jeffery De Witt porcelain plant of the Line Material Co. at Kenova, W. Va., was almost completely destroyed by fire starting about 6 a. m. Wednesday. Losses over $1,000,000 and some 450 men are out of employment in a community of about 4,000 population.

Gilbert Smrz, general manager of Line Material Co. plant here, said yesterday he had received full details of the fire which fortunately started before the morning work shift began. There was no loss of life or injuries.

Doebbling Sees Good Prospects For Hunters

The postponement of small game season was doubly hard to take yesterday, as Game Protector John Doebbling said prospects were the best in years for hunters.

"Rabbits are the most plentiful since I've been here (five years)," said Doebbling. The grouse look very plentiful, and most of the hunters I've talked with say there are more squirrels around than there have been for 10 years. Pheasant looks very good too."

Some of the good prospects could be attributed to the annual stocking, which took place both last Spring and in September, Doebbling added.

A total of 1,400 pheasants were released, plus 380 quail, 74 wild turkeys, and 250 wild rabbits banded last December and February in the Pocono urban areas, Doebbling said.

MAKE SURE YOUR VOTE COUNTS! When you go to the polls on Tuesday, Nov. 4 you will be casting your ballot in one of the most hotly-contested and stormiest presidential elections in recent history. Like all other Americans you want to make sure your vote counts—make sure you're voting for the right man—the man of your choice. If you are one of the 7,000 men and women in this county who have not received proper instruction on how to operate a voting machine you owe it to yourself to study the above diagram thoroughly. It is a diagram of a voting machine—the kind of machine you will be using to cast your vote Nov. 4. It's a simple machine to use—but like an automobile it must be used properly or it won't do the things you want it to. Study the diagram carefully. The steps which you must follow when you enter the voting booth are numbered in the exact order in which you must perform them. This diagram is published as a public service by The Daily Record. You are urged to clip the entire panel and take it with you when you go to vote next Tuesday.

William Wyckoff Chairman Of Scout Jamboree Group

Appointment of William S. Wyckoff, Stroudsburg, to serve as chairman of the special jamboree committee for the Delaware Valley Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, was announced this week by the council.

Purpose of the "jamboree committee" is to give "every eligible Scout and Explorer in the council area" an opportunity to participate in the third National Jamboree of the Boy Scouts.

This year the jamboree will be held in the Newport Harbor Area in California on the "Irvine Ranch," one of the few remaining old-land-holdings in Southern California which began under the old land-grant system of Spanish-American days.

Wyckoff comes to the important position on the council following a long scouting record, council president, Karl J. Miller said.

In 1939, Wyckoff was a member of the Troop Committee of the First Presbyterian Church and in 1940-41 served as district commissioner for all of Monroe County.

He served as chairman of organization and extension in 1944-45 and from 1949 to 1952 has been council member-at-large. Wyckoff is the holder of the Silver Beaver Award, a council award for outstanding service to boyhood.

Jamboree participation is open to members at least 12 years old as of Jan. 1, 1953, of second class scout, explorer apprentice of higher rank. Each scout must have adequate camping experience to enable him to care for himself in the open and a cooperative attitude toward his fellow scouts and leaders.

The National Jamboree is intended as an object lesson to all participants, teaching them to pay their own way as a means of developing self-reliance and self-support.

In some cases, portions of the scouts expenses will be paid by the local troop or service organizations, however.

The two previous National Jamborees were held on the East coast—in 1937 on the Potomac River, Washington, D. C. at the invitation of President Franklin Roosevelt and in 1950 at Valley Forge Park, Pennsylvania.

The Delaware Valley Area Council was represented by 40 young men and leaders at the Valley Forge Jamboree.

Van Buskirk-Razny Rites In Church

Newfoundland — Miss Diane VanBuskirk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell VanBuskirk, Panther, became the bride of Frank Richard Razny, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Razny, Panther, in the Moravian church here Saturday afternoon, October 25.

The Rev. Dr. Frederick G. Fulmer, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony. The church was decorated with baskets of white gladiolas and pom-poms.

A medley of the traditional nuptial melodies was played by Miss Charlotte Rohacker, church organist, and the vocalist, Miss Nancy Rohacker, sang "Because" and "Oh, Promise Me."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin, made with low, round neckline with a collar of satin and lace below a yoke of nylon net, long sleeves pointed at the wrists and a full-gathered lace-trimmed skirt with short train. Her satin Juliet cap had a fingertip veil of French illusion and orange blossoms at the sides. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses.

The bride's sister, Mrs. John A. Muller Jr., was matron of honor. She was attired in a beige and brown floor-length taffeta gown with matching half hat and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow roses.

Leonard F. Razny served as his brother's best man. The ushers were Russell VanBuskirk Jr. and John A. Muller Jr.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue outfit with accents of white and a corsage of gardenias. The mother of the bridegroom was attired in a bronze taffeta afternoon dress with black accessories. She wore a corsage of bronze pom-poms and daisy mums.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the IOOF hall, South Sterling. A buffet lunch was served to over 100 guests.

The couple left on a wedding trip through the New England states. For traveling, the bride wore a dressmaker suit of aqua and brown pincheek with brown accessories and wore a corsage of yellow roses. Upon their return the couple will make their home in Panther.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Razny are graduates of the Greene-Dreyer-Sterling High school. Mr. Razny is engaged in the dairy business in Panther.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Of course Halloween isn't over yet, but the peak is past, and I wish I could say the same thing about the election. This weekend, I'm afraid, will be rugged for anybody with strong convictions one way or another.

Which is why I'm glad I can concentrate for a few hours a day, anyway, on the social page, where the politics, if any, are well concealed. Weddings and baby showers, birthdays and Halloween parties, bless them all.

Only saw about half the Halloween parade, but what I saw was good. Liked the rabbits and the photographer's brigade, especially. Even in the Halloween parade, of course, politics played its part with boos and cheers greeting the floats according to individual feelings about the matter.

"Remember to Vote" in the mounted detachment, were the shut contributions. And the Cub Scouts of Shawnee are due for a bicycle parade this weekend, to get out the Smithfield vote.

And the Junior Woman's Club is due to hold a meeting Tuesday night after a day handing out shields at the polls, so if you don't vote it's your own fault, this year. And you deserve the comment so ripe among the teenagers just now—"Hit it with a stick before it multiplies."

The ghosts had eyes — which is unusual for ghosts. The rabbits had tall blue ears that lopped forward, as though they were far too tall and heavy to stand upright any longer. And even the gypsies were fat as cherubs, because of the woolen coats and leggings under their swirlaway skirts — in the Halloween parade. Now, some 550 lollipops and paper horns later, it is over for another year at Wyckoff's, where Halloween parades were customary even when I was a tot. These parties bring back memories, and make me more than ever aware that Wyckoff's is not only a family tradition, but an heirloom that goes on from one generation to another — like a treasured sterling tea service or a diamond brooch. . . . Barbara Kusk of our Sportswear department called my attention yesterday to a beautiful new shipment of 100% Orlon sweaters, so soft and silky they remind one of Cashmere. These short sleeved slipovers are ticketed at $5.95 and come in blue, pink, white and yellow. Orlon, you know, is one of the newer synthetics, and has all the resilience, fine texture, and smart appearance one associates with quality in wearing apparel. These particular garments are "Sweater Than Springtime" — and just what you need in a "Winter Wonderland" . . . Also in Sportswear, you'll find a wonderful new assortment of College Town slacks in 100 per cent wool, sizes 10 to 20. These are tailored the way slacks should be if they're going to do anything for you, and the colors are gray, green, brown and navy. Come in and see these for yourself. These may be slacks, but they're not slack when it comes to glamour! . . . While you're in Sportswear, take a look at the clearance table where smart items galore are going at a price far beneath your expectations. I noticed a number of knit rayon boucle blouses selling at $3.99 — and also a pretty red corduroy skirt, almost hidden in a stack of attractive gabardines. You realize, of course, that month end clearance items can be found in almost every department now, and they're money saved — if you have your eyes open . . . Edna Brockman is one person who always delights me — she has so much information crammed somewhere back of those snappy blue eyes. Yesterday in a few busy hours she arranged for a family to come here from Germany; discussed visa and transportation matters with two people enroute to that country; made hotel reservations for local residents visiting New York; secured tickets to Bermuda for two; arranged for a local family to spend Christmas in Nassau, and wangled a reservation by air to Chicago for a local business man. No doubt about it, by land, sea or air, the world is Edna's oyster. And there's never anything but sunshine on the Brockman map.

Fellowship Has Shower For New Baby

Swiftwater — The Youth Fellowship of the Reformed Church, meeting at the home of Donald Coffman on Saturday night, gave a surprise shower for Mrs. Edward Metzgar and her daughter, Ruth Ellen. A doll crib, decorated with pink and white crepe-paper held the gifts. Among them was one from Phyllis Jones, who was unable to attend.

After the gifts had been opened, games were played and refreshments were served.

H. Rossiter Worthington, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Worthington, of 111 S. Green St., East Stroudsburg, has been elevated to assistant manager in charge of the newly integrated radio-TV cooperative of the American Broadcasting Co.

The announcement is well received in this area, since the 26-year-old has made rapid advancement in ABC since joining the system in January, 1951. His early electronics training came in the U. S. Navy where he served for over a year aboard a destroyer tender as radio specialist.

Returning home he spent one year at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College and later matriculated for three years at Bowdoin College, Maine, majoring in liberal arts. Stevenson's Aide Denies Governor Snubbed Walter Because Of McCarran Bill

En Route With Stevenson in Pennsylvania, CP—An aide to Gov. Adlai Stevenson said yesterday that published reports to the effect that the Democratic presidential nominee gave Congressman Francis Walter a cool reception Wednesday represented a newsman's interpretation of what had occurred.

A newsman, inquiring yesterday whether Gov. Stevenson would comment on the reports, received that information from an assistant to Stevenson. The assistant said there would be no statement on the matter from the governor.

Walter in a statement yesterday denied he had been slighted and said the reports "are not true at all."

"I rode in Gov. Stevenson's private car from Lehigh, where I boarded the train, to Bethlehem where I got off. I talked with him about the campaign in my district," Walter said.

"I didn't talk about the immigration bill except to say that I had given his secretary a copy of a letter I had written to one of my constituents giving a complete analysis of the bill. He told me he would read it."

Walter boarded the Stevenson train at Lehigh and rode in a car with other Pennsylvania Democratic leaders. As Stevenson passed through the car, Walter stood up and introduced himself to the governor.

"I am Congressman Francis Walter," the Eastern Democrat was quoted as having said to the governor. Stevenson shook hands with Walter and said, "How do you do."

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Harry Scheffer's being remembered by the New York Yankees, after it appeared the lanky southpaw was going to be cut off without anything from the recent World Series, cost each of the regulars $43.67, as the Bronx Bombers had to dig into the other shares to make up for the clerical error. Harry was awarded a one-quarter share, or $1,435.66, while the regulars earned a full share of $5,982.65 and not the $6,026.32 as previously announced. It apparently was fortunate for all concerned that the mistake was found before the World Series checks were mailed to the various players.

Don Toth, on the advice of his physician, has decided to retire from football at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College for the remainder of the season. Don, a veteran of something like 12 years in the para-troopers, is nearing 30 years of age and a recent head injury prompted his decision. Toth also won on the sidelines for three games with a leg injury and the combination proved too much for the hard running back, who reportedly suffered a concussion in a service accident previously. His loss will certainly be felt by the Warriors.

Gomer Davis, former member of the wrestling and baseball teams at ESSTC, has been named wrestling coach at Lansdowne High. Davis also played baseball in the class "B" Inter-State League at one time. The former ESSTC athlete won seven varsity letters during his collegiate career. Tom Robbins, Larchmont, N. Y., golfer who annually plays in the Old Masters Tournament at Shawnee, is currently playing well in the North and South Seniors Invitation tournament, now being held at Pinehurst, N. C. The 60-year old golfer qualified with a 69 and then shot a 67 in his first round victory.

Jack Kist, head football coach at East Stroudsburg High School, and his assistants, Dick Forster and Del Davis, deserve plenty of credit for their quick treatment of Jim Fritz's knee injury after the Wilson Borough contest. The coaches quickly applied ice packs to the right knee and what appeared to be a serious injury at one time has cleared up nicely in a matter of a few days, although the regular right end and punter won't appear against Coplay tomorrow night, unless the move becomes necessary.

Dick Transue, regular left end, and Dick Zukowski, reserve wingman, will probably do the punting assignment against Coplay tomorrow, as the Cavaliers play their final night game of the present campaign at Memorial Stadium. If Bangor does use Rodney Miller against Nazareth on Saturday, it will be very lightly. Miller is coming back to action for the first time since breaking an ankle prior to the opening game of the season.

Certainly one of the largest crowds of the current campaign will jam the Nazareth field to see tomorrow's contest. Football fever is at its highest mark of the present season in the State Belt and this current edition of the Bangor High grid machine could be the club to dent Nazareth's first setback since 1949. The Nazareth charges of Coach Andy Leh won the next to last game of their 1949 schedule, against East Stroudsburg, and have been rolling ever since, except for a 13-13 tie with Bangor last year and a 7-7 deadlock with Pen Argyl in 1950. Tomorrow's host will be seeking its 35th game without a loss.

Forster and Carlton Berger, assistant football coaches at East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg High schools, haven't been forgotten in the current series running at intervals in this section and both will be covered as basketball mentors at a later date. Both have been doing a fine job as aids to their respective head coaches this season. Stroudsburg High will feature a dance after tonight's football game with Catawasqua. The affair is being sponsored by the Tri-Hi-Y. The East Stroudsburg Athletic Association meeting, postponed this week, will probably be held next Wednesday, the regular meeting day.

The postponement of small game hunting season, an unpopular move as far as most hunters in this area are concerned, will certainly help to swell the crowds at the weekend grid battles in Monroe County and surrounding areas. Ethel Moyer and Mary Jane Zimmerman, both members of the current ESSTC field hockey team taking part in the Collegiate tournament at Ursinus tomorrow, made the third All-College team in the same tournament last year.

This Catawasqua grid machine making its appearance at Gordon Giffels field tonight isn't as bad as its present record would indicate. The Rough Riders have been the victims of an epidemic of injuries to date this season. Last week Catawasqua had five of its regulars out of uniform as the brown and white clad squad fell before Slatington, 32-6. No late reports have been received on the condition of the Catty team that opened with a victory over Coplay, but since that time has never been able to field its complete first team, although tonight may be the first time.

Bangor Invades Nazareth With Hopes Of Ending Win Streak

Bangor and Nazareth High schools clash in one of the most important Lehigh-Northampton League football battles of the season tomorrow, when the Slayers invade the home domain of Coach Andy Leh's powerful Nazareth contingent. The game is scheduled to begin at 2 p.m.

The Slayers, hampered by injuries all season, will take a mark of three victories and the same number of setbacks into tomorrow's tussle, while Nazareth hasn't lost a game since 1919. Two ties, one with the same Bangor team last year, 13-13, and another with Pen Argyl, 7-7, in 1950, are the only blemishes on the Nazareth record in the past 34 contests.

Bangor this season has lost to Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg and Wilson Borough, but owns nods over Catawasqua, Palmerston and Coplay, the last two coming in succession.

The Slayers will be strengthened by the return of Rodney Miller, hard running back who suffered a

Yanks Finger Indians In Waiver Change

New York (AP)—The New York Yankees pointed the finger at the Cleveland Indians yesterday as they defended their action in obtaining players by the waiver rules after the trading deadline.

George M. Weiss, Yank general manager, issued a typewritten statement declaring the club "never obtained a ball player behind or beyond the rules of baseball."

The major-league executive council Wednesday recommended a new rule requiring waivers by all clubs in both leagues before a player can be sold to another major league club after July 31. This new rule comes up for a vote to the winter meetings in Phoenix next month.

As the Yanks obtained several National League players by the waiver route enroute to four straight pennants, this was considered by many as a "stop the Yanks" move.

"We have always lived by the rules at major league meetings," Weiss declared. "And we will live by any rules passed at the next one."

"On the matter of players obtained from the National League, however, we believe certain facts should be pointed out, facts pertaining to the American League pennant race of 1952."

"The New York Yankees purchased Ewell Blackwell, right-handed pitcher, from the Cincinnati Reds. This followed negotiations in which the Yankees outbid, among others, the Cleveland Indians."

"Blackwell pitched in five games for the Yankees. He hurled a total of 16 innings and contributed one victory to our pennant triumph."

"On the other hand, the Cleveland Indians purchased three players who had been waived out of the National League—George Strickland, shortstop; Wally Westlake, outfielder, and Ted Wilks, relief pitcher."

"Strickland played in 31 games and was the Cleveland club's regular shortstop during the stretch."

"Westlake played in 30 games. Wilks relieved in six games."

"That is a total of 67 games against 16 innings of pitching. Just how far back of the Yankees the runner-up Cleveland club would have been without the aid of these three players is problematical."

"It should be added that two of the three players could have been purchased by the Yankees but we passed them up."

"Further, in an American League waiver deal, wherein the Indians had prior claim, Ray Scarborough of the Red Sox came to the Yankees after every other club in the league waived on him. Scarborough won five games for the Yankees. Were these five victories transferred to the Indians, Cleveland might have been champions."

"Yet, we hear nothing about changing the league waiver rule. In fact, we hear very little about the Scarborough deal—not from Cleveland, in any event."

"There have been legislative attempts made before to curb the Yankees' winning habits. Isn't it about time it became clear that pennants are won on a ball field?"

Four Major Bowl Games To Be Televised On National Scale

Atlanta, (AP)—Anyone living near a large city who can squeeze in around a TV set New Year's Day will be able to sit still, keep warm, save money and watch any one of four great sports spectacles.

It may be that they can watch two such spectacles in succession and still not spend a cent.

The shows will be the football bowls. The number of millions watching the Sugar Bowl, the Cotton, Orange and the Rose Bowl will be unestimable.

While those millions look on because of TV, there will be 354,970 actually at the five major New Year's Day games in Pasadena, Miami, New Orleans, Dallas and Jacksonville.

The 80,375 in New Orleans' vast double-decker Sugar Bowl will pay $5.50 per head. Three TV networks are now bidding for this plum. If you consider the Rose Bowl what it actually is, an inter-conference game between the Pacific Coast and the Big Ten Conferences—then the New Orleans Bowl usually is the biggest in the land.

Columbia System
Miami's Orange Bowl will be televised by Columbia Broadcasting system. A sellout crowd of 66,180 is assured with each fan paying either $4 or $6.25.

NBC will spread the doings in Dallas' Cotton Bowl far past the 75,504 on hand. All seats go for $4.80—a bargain if such a thing exists in football.

The Rose Bowl was nationally televised last January 1—first such show to go visually across the nation. Another monster turnout of 96,825 can be counted on in Pasadena. Complete TV plans are expected later.

Record
The veteran 38-year-old southpaw, serving as a pitching coach and working infrequently, won seven and lost five for the Cardinals during the past season.

Saigh said "We were going to start Brecheen at $10,000." The Cardinal press said he had offered "The Cat" a coaching job, and had obtained waivers that made him a free-agent. As a 10-year man, Brecheen had the right to refuse to join any club that claimed him. Pittsburgh did, Saigh said.

Former Football Official Dies

Former Dean
Judge Egan, president of the Eastern Association of Football Officials in 1936 and 1937, was former dean of Duquesne University's Law School.

Mountaineers In Final Night Contest

Stroudsburg High's grid machine is expected to be at full strength today, when the Mountaineers go in search of their fourth win in seven outings this season. However, a brown and white clad Catawasqua squad, starved for victory, will provide the opposition at Gordon Giffels field. The kickoff is scheduled for 8 p.m.

The Mountaineers were strengthened by the news that Dick Campeotto, injured in last week's battle with Whitehall, would be ready for action on the offensive team tonight. Campeotto took part in his first practice of the week yesterday.

However, there was some doubt about Jack Whittle, first string right halfback, who has a pulled muscle in his leg. Whittle is expected to play tonight, but if he shouldn't be able to make the grade, Benny Miller, a transplanted lineman, will run out of the right half post for the second straight week.

Dave Pyle, one of the new additions to the Stroudsburg varsity, will make his first appearance as a defensive center.

In addition to Pyle, those playing strictly defensive ball will be Carl Hagerty, a tower of strength in the Whitehall contest, Tom Berger and Elmer Strong.

Lawyer Indicates Grid Fixer Will Fight Extradition Move

By Wilnot Hercher

Washington, (AP)—A University of Maryland junior—accused of trying unsuccessfully to fix his school's football game with Louisiana State last Saturday—appeared at a fugitive hearing here yesterday and his lawyer indicated he would fight removal from the District of Columbia.

Proceedings in the hearing were delayed until November 20.

Louis Leonard Glickfield, a chunky 21-year-old who starred in high school football in this area, is charged with trying to bribe a Maryland player to make sure that Maryland did not beat LSU by more than 21 points.

A special law covering the bribing of athletes in Maryland provides that persons convicted under it may be fined from $300 to $5,000 and sent to jail from six months to three years.

Although Glickfield lives in Hyattsville, Md., just outside the District of Columbia, he surrendered in Washington last night. This forced authorities in Prince Georges County, Md., where the warrant against him was issued, to bring extradition proceedings to get him back into Maryland for prosecution.

Geary Eppley, dean of men at Maryland, announced yesterday that Glickfield has been suspended by the university.

With Attorney
Wearing a leather jacket, blue trousers and a sport shirt, Glickfield appeared in Municipal Court with his attorney, Charles E. Ford. He didn't say a word at the brief hearing, and all his lawyer would tell reporters was: "The facts in this case make it much ado about nothing." Ford indicated he would oppose extradition.

Judge Nadine Gallagher continued the hearing until November 20 to give Maryland authorities time to prepare extradition papers. Meanwhile Glickfield is at liberty under $1,000 bond.

The warrant against the student accuses him of offering $1,000 to Tom Cosgrove of Philadelphia, first-string offensive center on the unbeaten Maryland Terps, to see to it that the "spread" of points in the game did not exceed 21.

University officials at nearby College Park, Md., said Glickfield also approached star quarterback Jack Scarbath of Baltimore and Guard Frank Navarro of White Plains, N. Y., with offers of money to hold down the score.

All three Maryland players, the officials said, reported the offers to Coach Jim Tutun before the game.

Associated Press Scribe Picks Georgia Tech Over Duke In Battle Of Undefeated Powers

By Will Grimley

Durham, N. C., (AP)—After last week's epidemic of upsets—October 25's notorious "Black Saturday"—football coaches made a bee-line for the nearest bridges.

They never got there. The roads already were jammed with hair-wringing forecasters.

Personally we picked the East River, floated down the Atlantic to the North Carolina coast, got picked up by a tobacco wagon and now find ourselves in Durham where Georgia Tech and Duke transact some business Saturday.

Last week we missed 15 of 49 for '697 which pulled our season's average down to .776; 229 right, 66 wrong. Let's go again:

Georgia Tech over Duke—Leon "Shorty" Hardeman proves the difference in Dixie's battle of unbeaten Titans.

California over UCLA—The Golden Bears bounce back as a back-breaking schedule begins to tell on the Uclans.

Michigan State over Purdue—The top-ranked Spartans have too much depth and power, but an upset is possible.

Maryland over Boston University—If BU's Harry Agganis is over his cold, he can give the Terrapins trouble.

Oklahoma over Iowa State—A breather for the Sooners, who'll need it to get ready for Notre Dame a week hence.

Wisconsin over Rice—The South-west's miserable intercollegiate record gets no relief here.

Kansas over Kansas State—An easy one for the Jayhawks, beaten only by Oklahoma.

Texas over Southern Methodist—The Longhorns take another long stride toward the Cotton Bowl.

Villanova over Parris Island—Gene Filipki and his mates maintain unbeaten record tonight.

Notre Dame over Navy—Both played a 7-7 tie with Penn. The Irish should be in better physical shape.

Penn over Penn State—A sophomore passer named Walt Hynoski and a near-sighted end named Ed Bell are the difference.

Alabama over Georgia—The Crimson Tide is loaded with material, of which Bobby Marlow is the sparkler.

Some others: Tonight, Clemson over Boston College, Miami over Kentucky.

Tomorrow, East—Princeton over Brown, Columbia over Cornell, Army over VMI, Yale over Dartmouth, Harvard over Davidson, Detroit over Fordham, West Virginia over George Washington, Bucknell over Lehigh, Colgate over Mississippi College, NYU over Lafayette, Temple over Rutgers, Pittsburgh over Indiana.

Midwest—Michigan over Illinois, Minnesota over Iowa, Marquette over Holy Cross, Missouri over Nebraska, Ohio State over Northwestern.

Bratton Meets Miceli In Garden Bout

By Jack Hand

New York (AP)—Will Johnny Bratton come as a "tiger" or a cautious "Ferdinand" to tonight's Halloween punch party with Joe Miceli at Madison Square Garden?

Nobody ever knows what to expect from Chicago Johnny who can beat the best on a good night or lose to an also-ran on a bad one.

He is boxing's prize quick change artist.

Apparently the professionals think Bratton will come as a winner, anyhow, for they have made his a six and one-half to five favorite over the fast-rising Miceli from New York's East Side.

The 10-round welter match, an interesting pairing sought by many clubs, will go on at 10 p. m. (EST) over a national radio and television network.

Potential

Bratton, who held the NBA welter crown for two months, must beat himself as well as Miceli. He is a hot and cold fighter with great potential but too often his fire is banked.

On occasion Bratton is the vicious slugger who knocked out Bobby Dykes in one round. Other nights he is the in-and-out-er who barely scraped past Vic Cardell on a split decision and lost twice to "Rocky" Castellani.

The record books show both fighters with a 70 per cent win record. Bratton is 52-19-3 in 74 fights, winning 29 by knockouts. He was stopped twice, Miceli, two years younger at 23, is 36-11-4 for 51 fights, has 19 knockouts and never was stopped.

Bratton's china jaw was broken by Beau Jack in 1948 and Ike Williams in 1950, losing both on TKOs, and by Kid Gavilan when he lost his title on a 15-round decision, May 18, 1951.

Shippensburg State Teachers Number One On List Of Small Colleges In Total Defense

New York (AP)—Quarterback Don Gottlob of Sam Houston State Texas, has racked up total gains of 108,344, 269,321 and 369 yards in six games so far. If he gains 300 more in three remaining games, he will break the national small-college total offense record.

The weekly small college statistics released yesterday by the National Collegiate A. A. Service Bureau, show that the 21-year-old Galveston boy has gained 1,701 yards—all but 10 by passing—in six games. The record of 2,006 yards total offense was set by Connie Callahan of Morningside in 1949.

Review Of Provisions Sets Record Straight On McCarran-Walter Bill

The McCarran Act—co-authored by Rep. Francis E. Walter (D), Easton, Pa.—projected in the presidential campaign by candidates of both parties has been the subject of so many conflicting charges that The Daily Record made its own study of the bill.

Known as the Omnibus Immigration Act, the bill was vetoed by President Truman and passed over his veto in both House and Senate. In both instances a majority of Democrats voted with a large segment of Republicans to override the veto.

The Congressional Record shows first that the measure is the outgrowth of over four years of studies, investigations, conferences with various departments of the administrative and extensive hearings. Out of this came a codification and revision of all immigration and nationality laws, never previously attempted.

One of the unusual facts about the measure is that it has developed some of the windiest arguments of the political campaign—and it is not yet a law. The new law doesn't start operating until December 24. Regulations spelling out how it will be applied still have not been written.

However, the bill is being called all sorts of names from "pro-Nazi" to "anti-intellectual." Some of the false rumors say it will stop children living just across the Canadian border from attending school in the United States, force American citizens living in Alaska to get entrance permits when visiting the United States, deprive Maine lumberjacks of Canadian lumberjacks and generally wreck international relations.

What does the McCarran-Walter Act really do? Our study of the bill shows these facts:

It puts together in one law the many separate immigration laws passed in the last 50 years, eliminating contradictions and filling in gaps.

It removes the ban on Orientals, a big factor in building up hate against America in pre-World War Two Japan.

It liberalizes the bringing in of wives, husbands, children and parents of American citizens.

It preserves the "natural origins" formula of the 1924 immigration act, which set quotas for immigrants from each European country on the basis of one-sixth of one per cent of that country's descendants living in the United States in 1920.

Two provisions of importance are:

To attract the most useful types of immigrants, the new law allows the first of each country's quota to be reserved for "specialists"—teachers, professional men, artists, scientists, etc.

The attack on the immigration bill has been largely against only two of its provisions.

The anti-subversive clauses have been called unnecessary, unwise and too strict.

Taking cognizance of the existence of world-wide Communist conspiracy, hostile to the United States and to the free world, the bill strengthens requirements for security screening and makes it possible both to prevent the entry of Communist conspirators and to weed out those who have infiltrated into this country.

The bill takes cognizance of the large number of aliens in the recently investigated activities of the criminal elements, and broadens the grounds for exclusion and deportation of criminals, violators of the narcotic prohibitions, stowaways, and deserting seamen.

Regarding adjustment of the immigration status of aliens who have entered the country illegally or who are subject to deportation after entry, the bill eliminates certain lax practices of the past. In this and many other respects the bill favors the law-abiding alien who desires to come to the United States when permitted to do so by law. But it does not favor the alien who sneaks in in violation of the law, gets his status adjusted, and takes the place of his countrymen who have been patiently awaiting outside for many years for an opportunity to enter "the promised land."

The second chief complaint is that the preservation of the "national origins" formula has been called "false to American ideals." None of the opponents advocated repealing the formula—since the old law was the most generous immigration policy in the Western Hemisphere or in Europe.

But, some legislators proposed that unused portions of certain nation's quotas should be given to other nations having more applicants than others.

Meanwhile, some South and East European nations have wanted to send more immigrants than their quotas allowed.

Preference is not given to Nordic nations because Norway and Sweden, for one example, have quotas nearly half the size of Italy's. If each country's quota was the same, Italy, for instance, would have a 4,000 reduction in the number of immigrants.

Within the quota system, based on the principle of national origin, the bill provides both for selective immigration and for the safekeeping of the old American immigration principle of keeping families united.

In its elimination of race as a bar to naturalization, the bill makes lawful residents of the United States who can meet the bill's qualifications, specifically those relating to their good moral character and loyalty, eligible to become American citizens.

The provisions relating to loss of citizenship remain basically the same.

The bill also eliminates all discrimination between the sexes with respect to immigration and naturalization.

Here Is How Your Representative Defied Your Wishes

—Reprinted from the Stroudsburg Daily Record, Wednesday, April 18, 1951.

Harrisburg (P) release—Rep. John S. Shotwell (R-Monroe) issued a statement in Harrisburg this week in which he denied he would change his original vote against the proposed State Income Tax bill, if and when it comes up for consideration. Shotwell said weekend contacts by many of his constituents, most of them members of his party, had made it clear they are against the measure.

State House Approves Income Tax Bill 107-97

"EDITORIAL"

Reprinted From The Front Page Of The Stroudsburg Daily Record... Thur., April 19, 1951

Get Out The Needle

A "change of heart" by seven House Republicans... Rep. John S. Shotwell (R-Monroe) included... turned a two-week old defeat into victory for Governor Fine's individual income tax bill yesterday.

Only one Democrat voted for the income tax levy.

Mr. Shotwell's "change of heart" was forecast last week when he voted with the administration to reconsider the vicious tax bill. But another "change of heart" for Monroe's GOP House member occurred Monday when he was quoted in a Harrisburg interview as being against the income tax bill because his people back home had renewed their protests when he was home for the weekend.

We surmise he will maintain the switch of four out of five Schuylkill County House members which gave the tip-off that Mr. Fine had plenty of power to pass the flat income tax bill, leaving him in the position of casting a hopeless "Nay" vote and, at the same time, extending his neck for the Fine hatchet.

Rep. Shotwell's "change of heart" ignored a clear cut, weighty mandate—from Monroe County voters who elected him—to vote against the obnoxious income tax bill or a sale tax measure. This mandate also called for his support of rigid examination of Mr. Fine's "untouchable budget" for economies which would eliminate necessity of either of these taxes...

GOP House members, who voted against the income tax bill two weeks ago but changed their votes to the affirmative included Rep. John S. Shotwell (R-Monroe).

Current Election Could Have Another Hair-Raising Finish

Sideshow Elections Hold Clues

By John F. Sembower
Central Press Political Writer
Washington, D. C.—The Dewey debacle of 1948 often has been laid to the Democrats' being so discouraged with President Truman's chances for re-election at the outset that they concentrated on putting up strong contenders in an effort to salvage the big local contests.

In one crucial sector after another, it was seen on election night that Democratic candidates for Congress and the state offices were running far ahead of their national ticket, and pulling it in.

One Adlai E. Stevenson was "made" that night when Democratic chances rated him, he rolled up a 300,000-vote majority and Harry Truman slid in on his coattails. What will this year's story be in the crucial local sectors?

More is involved than just the control of the 83rd Congress, important as that is. The fortunes of the top standard-bearers, Eisenhower and Stevenson, will be greatly affected.

Top billing among the sideshows goes to Massachusetts where Ike's original manager, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., and dynamic young Rep. John F. Kennedy, a son of Joe Kennedy, the longtime Democratic figure and former ambassador to London, are slugging it out.

Keynote Helps
Kennedy has the powerful assistance of Gov. Paul Dever, the Democratic convention keynote, seeking re-election as governor. The two have put Massachusetts' 16 electoral votes in the Democratic column of many a prognosticator. Can Lodge pull through for himself and Ike?

Ohio's chunk of 25 votes hinges on whether a real vote-getter, GOP Senator John Bricker, can stand off the challenge of hard-working Mike DiSalle, who resigned as price chief to oppose him, and another vote-getting champion, Gov. Frank Dausche.

New York's crucial 45 votes—regarded by many as the crux of the whole situation—may be influenced toward the GOP by indications that Senator Irving Ives is assured of re-election by inability of the Democrats and Liberals, collaborators in most recent elections, to agree upon a single senatorial candidate.

Brooklyn Borough President John Cashmore is the Democratic entry and Dr. George S. Counts is running as a Liberal. Some forecasters discount this "split," however, saying that followers of both favor Adlai and their own intense rivalry might actually boost his total.

Strong personalities heading local tickets have colored many guesses as to where the states will land. The attempted comeback of ex-Senator John Sherman Cooper, a Republican, has put Kentucky in many a "doubtful" classification, whereas it normally would be Democratic.

Senator Edward Thyne's campaign in Minnesota tips the scales toward the GOP on numerous counts. In New Jersey a spirited Senate battle between Archibald S. Alexander, former undersecretary of Army, and Senator H. Alexander Smith moves that state into many a "doubtful" column.

On The Spot
Members of the GOP "Class of '46," all of whom are embroiled in the isolationist or other controversies, are on the spot: Jenner (Ind.), Ken (Mo.), Malone (Nev.), Butler (Neb.), Bricker (Ohio), Cain (Wash.), Watkins (Utah), and McCarthy (Wis.).

GOP leaders acknowledge that Jenner, Ken, Cain and Watkins are in varying degrees of danger, and divide on how McCarthy stands. In Indiana, they figure that Democratic Gov. Henry Schriener may run as far as 100,000 ahead of Jenner, but hope Eisenhower will pull Jenner through.

Throughout the country, a number of vigorous members of the House are campaigning to move into the Senate, Case-hardened vote-getters, they are formidable challengers.

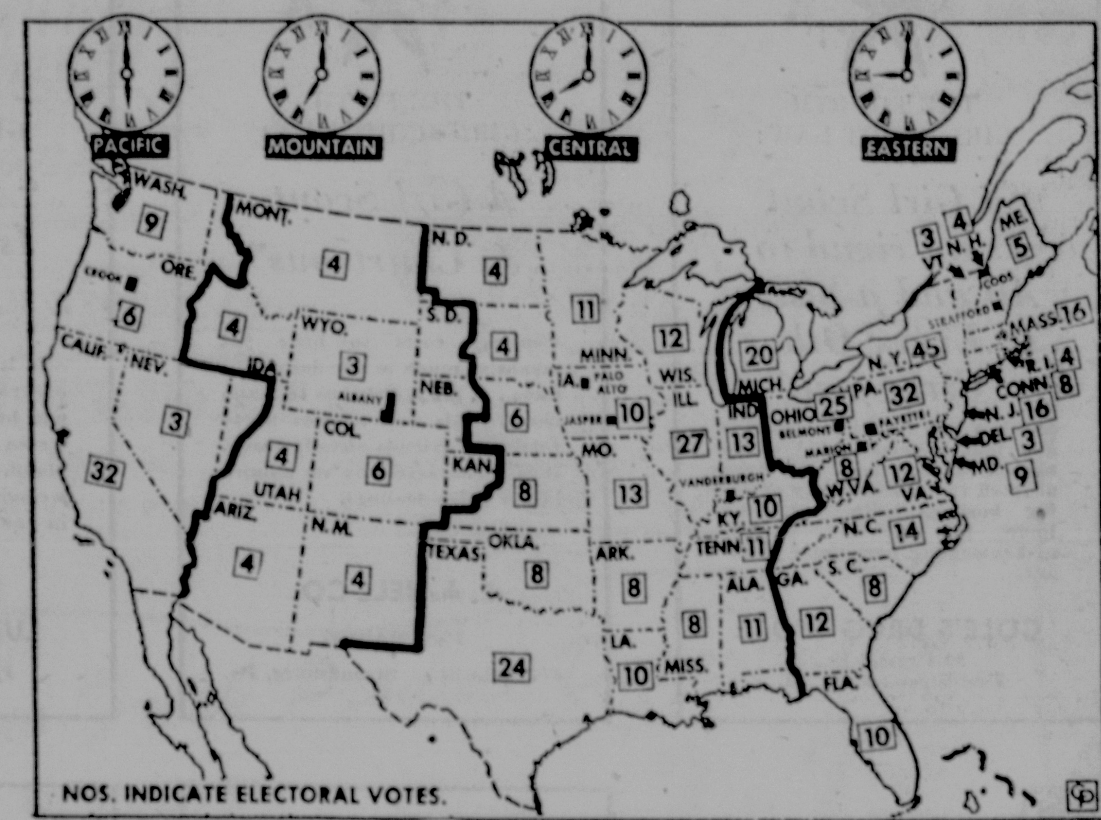

The Democrats' Senate leader, Ernest W. McFarland, is vigorously opposed in Arizona. New Mexico, with Pat Hurley, former Hoover secretary of war, pitted against Senator Dennis Chavez for the second time, and Wyoming, with the state's two political giants, Democratic Senator James C. O'Mahoney and Republican Gov. Frank A. Barrett battling for the former's seat, offer two of the best goals, although few electoral votes are at stake.

Connecticut, with both its Senate seats up, is a hot corner and Democratic Senator William Benton is in a terrific struggle. Maryland, Nevada, Wyoming and Delaware are other "dark and bloody grounds" of local conflict.

Order Appealed

Washington (AP)—A group of major oil companies yesterday appealed to the Supreme Court in their effort to win dismissal of a special federal grand jury called here to investigate possible anti-trust law violations.

FOLLOWING RETURNS? USE THESE AIDS

By John F. Sembower
Central Press Correspondent
Here is how "the real experts"—leaders in the respective party camps—unscramble the torrent of returns that will begin to pour in on election night.

They know that closing of the polls sweeps across the country in conformity with the time zones, and returns will pile up first from the East, then the Central, the Mountain, and Pacific areas. Polls in most places close at 6 p. m., local time, although New York and some other states keep them open until 9 p. m. In New England, some towns close the polls as soon as all voters have cast their ballots, providing the earliest returns in the country. By allowing for this, they keep their figures on an "even keel."

Also, they remember that the big cities ordinarily will be heard from first, and the rural vote may counterbalance later in the night.

In appraising the results, they consider as most significant how their own claims and the claims of the opposition stand up against the actual returns. Each side always claims victory, but whose claims are standing the test? That is the real tip-off.

The spotlight this year will be on 10 widely separated "weather vane" counties which, since 1896, have been with the winner: Indiana, Vanderburgh; Iowa, Palo Alto (upstate) and Jasper; Wyoming, Albany; New Hampshire, Coos (upstate) and Strafford; Pennsylvania, Fayette; West Virginia, Marion; Oregon, Crook; Ohio, Belmont.

By using this map and the chart below, you can follow the returns and analyze them as these experts do. States are grouped by time belts, and claims are matched against claims. Results in 1948 are listed so that you can tell how this year's totals compare, and how much of the vote is yet to be heard from.

EASTERN ZONE

State	Elect. Vote	Last Time	Democrats	Republicans
Connecticut*	8	R 437,754 D 423,297 O 22,467	Claimed. Stevenson popular in labor centers. Senator Benton running well. Kellems GOP split helps.	Fighting chance. Usually GOP in presidential years. Ike topping Dewey. Row with Senator McCarthy hurts Benton.
Delaware	3	R 69,588 D 67,813 O 1,672	Good chance. Bayard, duPont kinsmen, popular in Senate race. Big labor vote in industrial centers.	Claimed. Ike helped by Senator Williams' popularity for turning up income tax scandals.
Florida*	10	D 281,988 R 194,280 O 101,683	Still can win. Rural vote will close early GOP lead. Stevenson has countered early Ike advantage.	Claimed. Ike's early trip was triumph. Retired folks resent inflation. Northerners have balked GOP.
Georgia	12	D 254,646 R 76,691 O 87,453	Safe. Still a cornerstone of the solid south, with at least a 3-2 edge virtually assured.	Could scare 'em. Ike "took" Atlanta by storm. Will surpass Hoover's 43 per cent return in 1928.
Maine	5	R 150,234 D 111,916 O 2,673	Conceded, but—Watch for less GOP majorities than usual, as true tip on "as Maine goes—".	Rock-ribbed. The general will take all 16 counties, including two which are normally Democratic.
Maryland*	9	R 294,814 D 286,521 O 15,413	Will pull through. Demo tradition to prevail. Former Wallaceites will tip delicate balance to Adlai.	Claimed. No longer a part of solid south. Democrats slipping since losses both in '48 and '50 state races.
Massachusetts	16	D 1,151,788 R 909,370 O 45,988	In the bag, same as last six times. Joe Kennedy's son, John, will beat Senator Lodge and clinch Demo win.	Still pitching. Ike's last-minute personal help could save Lodge and win state for both in real upset.
Michigan	20	R 993,027 D 295,595 O 52,715	Doubtful, but hopeful because of Detroit CIO and re-election bids of Gov. Williams and Senator Moody.	Claimed as repetition of '44, '48 GOP wins and because of formidable challenge by Representative Potter of Moody.
New Hampshire	4	R 121,299 D 107,995 O 2,146	Uphill battle admitted, but hope to overcome GOP tradition and 13,000 edge in 1948.	Claimed, but not as one of the "in-the-bag" states.
New Jersey	16	R 918,124 D 895,455 O 72,976	Slim hope based on strong bid by Archibald S. Alexander for Senate seat of H. Alexander Smith.	Claimed. Strong GOP drift continues since collapse of Demo's Hague machine. Considered almost certain.
New York	45	R 2,841,163 D 2,557,642 O 501,167	Touch-and-go and crucial Count on huge Gotham sweep and Progresives' aid to off-set Senate race split.	A toss-up, and a "must." Ike to run better than Dewey did, Senator Ives sure win, and up-state vote will be clincher.
North Carolina	14	D 459,070 R 258,572 O 73,567	Claimed. Stevenson is pick of farmers and laborers. GOP claims are "false alarm" and state is solid.	Watch for upset. Odd for GOP to have hopes here, but they definitely exist. Could be landslide tipoff.
Ohio	25	D 1,452,791 R 1,445,684 O 37,569	Awfully close, but can be won in repeat of '48 Gov. Lausche to swamp Charles P. Taft and help Adlai. See big Cleveland edge.	Claimed. Ike's peace with Taft assured it. All polls show big edge for GOP. Senator Bricker to show way.
Pennsylvania	32	R 1,902,197 D 1,732,426 O 80,414	Good chance with new Demo regime in Philip where Truman won by only 7,000. Wallaceites back in fold.	Claimed. Eisenhower and Taft wounds healed. Senator Martin running strong race. Will enlarge upon '48 edge.
Rhode Island	4	D 188,736 R 213,578 O 3,109	Assured. Governor Roberts and Senator Pastore boost Adlai stock in own re-election bids. Demos have won since '24.	Won't concede, but it is tough battle. Claim big registration of 65,000 new voters shifts outlook.
South Carolina	8	D 34,423 R 5,386 O 102,762	Assured. Governor Byrnes' defection counteracted by support of both senators and all six representatives for Adlai.	Seems impossible to overturn tradition, but Ike's supporters are most articulate in the state.
Vermont	3	R 75,926 D 45,557 O 1,899	Conceded. Might retain three counties won by Truman in '48, but too much to hope for more.	Lock, stock and barrel for GOP during more than a century. Green Mountain state is secure as can be.
Virginia	12	D 200,186 R 172,070 O 46,400	Claimed. Governor Battle for Adlai offsets Senator Byrd's silence. Wait for big Democratic rural returns.	Definitely doubtful. Colonel Neal, a "Byrd man," heads the strong Ike faction that has made great headway.
West Virginia	8	D 429,188 R 316,251 O 3,311	Assured. Senator Kilgore running for re-election and everything seems under control to keep state Democratic.	Not quite conceded. Outside chance that former Senator Revercomb may add new GOP votes in his comeback try.

*Key state according to most forecasters.
Total for all other presidential candidates.
*Includes States Rights' votes.

CENTRAL ZONE

State	Elect. Vote	Last Time	Democrats	Republicans
Alabama	11	R 40,930 D None O 174,050	In-the-bag. Senator Sparkman as veep candidate assures 5-1 "usual Democratic edge."	Conceded. However, look for big Ike support in Birmingham, Mobile area to cut Demo's 5-1 margin.
Arkansas	8	D 149,659 R 50,959 O 41,857	Absolutely sure, although early returns from Little Rock might boost Ike. Rest of the state is solid.	Conceded, but Eisenhower will poll more votes than any Republican in Arkansas history.
Illinois	27	D 1,994,715 R 1,961,103 O 28,228	Claimed. Adlai's popularity in home state proved by big margin in '48 race for governorship.	Claimed. Big downstate vote will wipe out Chicago totals for Adlai. Demos have lack-lustre state slate.
Indiana	13	R 821,079 D 807,833 O 27,302	Claimed. Popular Governor Schriener will out Senator Jenner. State led in nomination of Stevenson.	Claimed. Dewey won in '48 by 14,000 while Schriener won by 77,000, so even if Jenner loses, Ike is "in."
Iowa	10	D 522,380 R 494,018 O 21,874	Virtually conceded. Only chance is possible surprise farm vote such as gave Truman a 28,000 margin in '48.	Assured. Part of a bloc composed of Kansas and Nebraska, nothing can "go wrong" in Iowa this time.
Kansas	8	R 423,039 D 351,902 O 13,878	Virtually conceded. "Home state" label for Eisenhower, plus GOP edge of 71,000 in '48, makes outlook gloomy.	In-the-bag. Everything points to record-breaking GOP victory.
Kentucky	10	D 466,756 R 341,210 O 13,622	Claimed. State normally is Democratic, and Truman's 125,000 majority will be matched by Adlai.	Excellent chance for an upset, with Barkley off Demo's ticket and ex-Senator Cooper in GOP comeback try.
Louisiana	10	D 136,344 R 341,210 O 13,622	Serious doubt admitted as revolt is viewed as most jarring in south. Hope lies in New Orleans vote.	Claimed. Eisenhower went over big in New Orleans. Rural vote has leaned to Ike from beginning.
Minnesota	11	D 692,966 R 483,617 O 35,645	Claimed. Adlai may not do as well as Truman's 209,000 majority in '48, but he will win handsly.	Claimed. Real groundswell to Eisenhower, and bid of Senator Thyne to re-election greatly bolsters state ticket.
Mississippi	8	D 19,384 R 5,043 O 167,763	Safe, at last. Thanks to efforts of Governor White and Attorney General Coleman, Demos will win "as usual," 2-1.	Conceded, but Ike will poll more votes than any GOP candidate since the Reconstruction period.
Missouri	13	D 917,315 R 655,039 O 6,271	In-the-bag. Senator Kern is great liability to GOP. Adlai got warmest campaign reception in Kansas City.	Not conceded, but Kern is admittedly "in danger." Demos are split over Symington candidacy for senator and Truman.
Nebraska	6	R 264,774 D 224,165 O None	Conceded. Tough to overcome 40,000 GOP '48 edge, as well as Senator Butler and Governor Griswold on ticket.	In-the-bag. Ike is favorite here, besides mere "unknowns" are pitted against Butler and Griswold in Senate races.
North Dakota	4	R 115,136 D 95,812 O 9,765	Not conceded, mainly because GOP Senator Langer rode with Truman on whistle stop tour.	Claimed. Although Langer frequently has voted with Demos, Eisenhower support is believed overwhelming.
Oklahoma	8	D 452,782 R 268,817 O None	In-the-bag. Senator Kerr took nomination defeat in good part. Adlai will win by 60,000 up.	Conceded, but margin will be much less than 184,000 for Truman in '48.
South Dakota	4	R 129,651 D 117,653 O 2,801	Virtually conceded. No Senator Langer situation here to distort almost sure Eisenhower sweep.	Assured. Eisenhower is strong-est all through the Mountain zone, and South Dakota is one of his "hot spots."
Tennessee	11	D 270,492 R 202,914 O 76,964	Claimed. Party splits have healed nicely and '48 margin of 67,000 will be approximated.	Might sneak through, because many Demos are licking wounds from numerous party splits. GOP strong in eastern part.
Texas	24	D 750,700 R 282,240 O 114,305	Whew! but safe. Revolt of Governor Shivers countered by Senator Johnson and Speaker Rayburn going all-out for Adlai.	Toss-up, but GOP will win because of Demo revolt and genuine "I Like Ike" response in both parties from beginning.
Wisconsin	12	D 647,310 R 500,959 O 38,269	Fighting chance, since anti-McCarthy vote in primary added to Demo total could win for Adlai and state ticket.	Claimed. No doubt about it: Senator McCarthy's 2-1 primary victory vindicated him. Ike and he are "in."

*Key state according to most forecasters.
Total for all other presidential candidates.
*Includes States Rights' votes.

MOUNTAIN ZONE

State	Elect. Vote	Last Time	Democrats	Republicans
Arizona	4	D 75,251 R 77,597 O 4,217	Claimed. Demos lead 3-1 in registration. Farmers are satisfied. Senator McFarland heads state ticket.	Good chance, in opinion of author Clarence Buddington Kelland, GOP leader. Ike leads in biggest county.
Colorado	6	D 267,288 R 239,714 O 8,238	Claimed; was knife-edged 'til Truman's tour; now is trending Democratic, led by mining districts.	Claimed; was toss-up until Truman trip; now for Ike. Farming region more than overbalances unionized area.
Idaho	4	D 107,370 R 101,514 O 5,932	Toss-up, with unionized part of population offsetting the rural vote and forecasting repetition of 6,000 win in '48.	Claimed. Farm vote definitely has turned to Eisenhower, and '48 deficit is more than erased.
Montana	4	D 119,071 R 96,770 O 8,437	Claimed. Representative Mike Mansfield from industrial mining area will beat Senator Ecton; state has been for Demos since '28.	Claimed. Senator Ecton, representing farming and ranching counties, favored by polls. Ike's popularity will be decisive.
New Mexico	4	D 105,464 R 80,303 O 1,296	Claimed. Twice-rejected Hurley cannot lead GOP to victory in face of 25,000 Demo win in '48, Ike notwithstanding.	Claimed. Third time will be charm for Pat Hurley seeking Senate seat. He and Ike make real vote-getting combination.
Utah	4	D 149,151 R 124,402 O 2,752	Claimed. Senator Watkins won in primary over Mariner Eccles, but latter's support now will be Adlai's and Representative Granger's.	Claimed. New Deal's old 7-2 advantage has shrunk to mere shadow. Ike to go over, aided by Senator Watkins.
Wyoming	3	D 52,354 R 47,947 O 1,124	Claimed. National race takes backseat to Senate battle. O'Mahoney will snatch a close one.	Claimed. Agreed that national candidates are subordinate, but Governor Barrett "has O'Mahoney's number" this time.

*Key state according to most forecasters.
Total for all other presidential candidates.

PACIFIC ZONE

State	Elect. Vote	Last Time	Democrats	Republicans
California	32	D 1,913,134 R 1,895,269 O 213,135	Claimed. GOP badly split by Governor Warren's bitterness over "Nixon double-cross" at Chicago.	Claimed. GOP precinct work excels. "Inexperienced" Kefauver group leads Demos and still snarls over convention.
Nevada	3	D 31,291 R 29,357 O 1,469	Doubtful. Senator McCarran's inactivity because his man lost nomination for senate admittedly hurts.	Claimed. Split in Democratic camp paves way for sure and decisive Ike triumph.
Oregon	6	R 260,904 D 243,147 O 20,929	Won't concede. Senator Morse's "disillusionment" over Ike has rekindled hope. Adlai steadily gained in recent weeks.	Claimed. Only far-western state to go GOP in '48 is assured again. "Morse" cuts no ice; he voted Democratic anyway."
Washington	9	D 476,165 R 386,315 O 42,579	Claimed. Ike didn't "take" out here, and Senator Cain is marked for sure defeat. The margin will be over 90,000.	Not conceded. Admit "Sen. Cain is in trouble," but believe Ike gained at finish, and Gov. Langlie heading state ticket helps.

*Key state according to most forecasters.
Total for all other presidential candidates.

Independent Voter Greatly Overrated

Cortland, N. Y., (AP)—The independent voter is "greatly overrated," Dr. F. A. Pearson, Cornell University farm economist, said Tuesday night.
Pearson, who predicted the victory of President Truman in the 1948 election, said in a speech at the Kiwanis Club dinner that the deciding vote would be cast by those who "vote according to their pocketbook."

Pearson recently said the high level of commodity prices favored the election of Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee, but recent deflationary trends were favorable to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican candidate.

Hughes-Wilson Race In 1916 Is Recalled

By John F. Sembower
Central Press Political Writer
Cleveland—Despite speedier vote-counting and lightning-fast communications, a candidate for President still can go to bed on election night thinking that he is the next resident of the White House, and awaken the next morning still an ordinary citizen.

It has happened several times, and the setup of the current ballot derby is such that it would behoove candidates and supporters alike not to let enthusiasm run too rampant or gloom to become too deep until the later returns are in.

The four time zones that divide the nation play tricks on election night. Most of the polls close whenever locally the clock shows 6 p. m. so that when the curtains are finally drawn on the booths in California it already is 9 p. m. in the great eastern zone and the tide is developing.

It was the heart-breaking experience of Charles Evans Hughes, the Republican standard-bearer in 1916, to be universally acclaimed as the new president, only to see the late returns from the western rural counties change the scene. Even Woodrow Wilson, his opponent, was fooled. When he saw that all the states east of the Mississippi and north of the Mason-Dixon line, except New Hampshire and Ohio, were going for Hughes, the President telephoned his private secretary: "Well, Tumulty, it looks as if we have been badly licked. I have no regrets. We have tried to do our duty."

Historical Blunder
One of the biggest New York newspapers which had supported Wilson announced in its early Wednesday morning editions the "sweeping victory" of Hughes. It was a blunder which would be repeated years later by a Chicago daily that headlined "Dewey Elected" on election night, 1948.
The final verdict in 1916 was not in until Thursday, when the last county districts in California gave Wilson a 3,775 vote edge out of over 900,000 cast and that state's then total of 13 electoral votes provided him with a 277-254 majority. This year California again is a key state.

Seasoned politicians warn their candidates not to concede prematurely under the emotional strain of discouraging early returns, because they know that tossing in the sponge causes the many vote-counting crews in the thousands of remote precincts to relax their efforts.
Ballots are passed which otherwise would be thrown out as mutilated, and even the arithmetic of adding the totals—a real burden as every election board knows—grows careless. Many a candidate who appeared to be a "bum sport" because he would not send a congratulatory message to his opponent, later has received one himself.

Tenseness of election night this year will be heightened by New York's decision to keep its polls open until 9 p. m. This will cause the results as to that state's crucial, perhaps decisive 45 votes to lag behind the rest of the election. The trends may be clearer in Pennsylvania, Connecticut, and Ohio by then. All are regarded as vital by both the Eisenhower and Stevenson camps, and each claims them.

Tip-off by 9 P. M.?
Moreover, by 9 p. m. South Carolina may have given the tip-off on whether the GOP really will crack the solid south, and Florida may be pointing a trend to be reflected later in the results from Texas. Big city votes rolling in from the voting machines, in all these sectors, later will be counterbalanced by the phoned-in results from the much slower manual counting that persists in most rural areas.

Close battles are expected by all the soothsayers this year, and the hair-raising photo-finishes of the 1948 campaign may be reenacted. Then Dewey lost Ohio by only 7,107 votes in 9,247 precincts, an average of less than a vote a precinct! He lost California by 17,865 votes in 16,825 precincts.

However close this year's election may be, it is doubtful if any election ever will match the hair-raising contest of 1874 when it became apparent that Gov. Samuel J. Tilden of New York, the Democrat who had smashed the notorious Tweed ring, was elected. He had just one short of the 185 electoral votes then needed.
But he never got that one vote. Electors from South Carolina, Louisiana and Florida were disputed, and after an unprecedented electoral commission of congressmen and justices of the Supreme Court had voted 8-7 in favor of seating all 20 Republican electors. Rutherford B. Hayes was pronounced winner 185-184.

That final return was not in until two days before the inauguration, March 2, 1877, and there were outcries of revolution and civil war. But nothing happened; everyone appeared to be exhausted.

Bond Chairman Appointed For Pike County

Appointment of Paul Yarros as banking and investment chairman, Pike County U. S. Savings Bonds Advisory Committee, was announced yesterday by Arthur C. Kaufman, U. S. Savings Bonds Advisory Committee chairman for Pennsylvania.

Mr. Yarros is vice president, First National Bank of Milford and serves as treasurer, Pike County Chapter, American Red Cross; treasurer, Pike County American Cancer Society; and treasurer of Pike County Association. He is also an officer of the Milford Lions Club.

"The improved Series E, U. S. Defense Bonds now paying a full three per cent and the entirely new Series H Income Bonds each present an excellent form of investment for businessmen in this county," said Yarros.

"The bond-a-month plan which is available through your local bank or the regular purchase of U. S. Defense Bonds through your local postoffice gives every businessman or employee an opportunity to build a fund for personal security," he concluded.

County YMCA Mount Pocono To Organize Speech Class

The class in public speaking will open for the tenth consecutive year at 8 p.m. Nov. 10 at the YMCA. The class is designed to develop confidence while speaking to an assembled group and to give practice in thinking while speaking. Also methods and plans for developing and delivering a talk are incorporated into the course.

This year several new ideas will be promoted such as preparing and delivering a radio talk. The details such as timing, voice control and content of the talk will be included in the course. Joe Webster of Station WVPO will be the instructor for the session on radio.

Russell Schooley, voice teacher from Easton, will instruct the course on voice control. There will also be sessions on how to preside as chairman of a meeting.

Four of the sessions will be in charge of Ted Lewis of Easton, an instructor in the art of speaking. Each member of the class will receive personal attention and will be given at least two opportunities each session to stand on his feet and speak to the group.

The final session will be in the form of a banquet when each member of the class will give a short graduation address. The class will be limited to 25 members. More than half of that number have already signed up for the course. Those interested in joining the group should get in touch either with Mrs. Josephine McGowan at 1220 of the YMCA 832.

Steel, glass and chemical industries use about 20 per cent of U. S. coal production.

Mrs. L. T. Powers

Fred Bisbing, Worcester, Mass., spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bisbing. His wife and children returned to Worcester with him after spending several weeks with her relatives at White Haven.

Mrs. Ella Fikentscher, Saylorsburg, is spending some time with her sister, Mrs. Mildred Schutt, while her husband is a patient at the Veterans Hospital, Wilkes-Barre.

Mrs. Ida Warner recently visited her daughter, Mrs. Harold Stiff in Stroudsburg.

Madalyn Maloney Appointed Wyckoff Personnel Director

By James B. Gaffney

Mrs. Madalyn Maloney, the "Wyckoff Shopper," has been named personnel director of the Stroudsburg department store and has instituted a training class for new employees.

Yesterday Mrs. Maloney displayed the "school-marm" tactics she picked up in Washington, D.C. this summer to a class of new employees. With the approach of the Yuletide season, Wyckoff's are preparing for customer-participation by tutoring all those who will contact the public.

Utilizing a new "school-room" on the second floor, Mrs. Maloney conducts her classes similar to those in any educational system. But the three R's already have been instilled and department store principles are outlined. Among the courses considered are a history of the local store, policy of the company, salesmanship technique and related subjects to further propel and maintain the store's slogan "The Friendly Store."

Baron Reinhardt, assistant in the display department, is responsible for decorative and educational charts that line the classroom walls. At the far end of the room is a motion picture screen, where films will be shown prospective sales personnel.

Wyckoff's also are planning their annual party, combining the Christmas celebration and Employees Association affair. Date for the event is Thursday, Nov. 6 in the store. Harold Albert is president of the Employees Association. Announcement of the retirement of Miss Selma Ruster, personnel director and long-time employee of the gift department, also was made yesterday morning.

George DeHaven, operator of the Atlantic Service Station at Ninth and Main Sts. in Stroudsburg leaves his post there tomorrow after seven years at that location and 17 years with Atlantic.

DeHaven said yesterday he will take two months for relaxing before considering entering business again. He will be succeeded at the local station by Cleo Sanders, a resident of Paradise Falls.

A mutual arrangement between Bucknell University and Hemlock Lodge, a South Sterling resort, has proved successful to both parties.

Russell Low, Stroudsburg resident and operator of the resort for 20 years, recently ordered an area large enough for a regulation size football field graded in preparation for the return of Bucknell's band. The musical aggregation underwent a week's intensive training in preparation for this year's football season at Hemlock Lodge and is expected to return next September for similar training.

The graded area will be seeded in the spring to give the Lewisburg musicians firm turf for their drills. Dr. Horace Hildreth, president of Bucknell University, has expressed a desire to continue the program, Low said, and the arrangement is beneficial to both parties.

Low said he also expects to enlarge kitchen facilities and guest accommodations at his lodge, providing a modern walk-in refrigerator and installing private baths.

Pennsylvania Power and Light Company's earnings for the 12-month period ended Sept. 30, were $10,837,942, after all charges accruing to the common stock. The amount to $2.50 per share of common stock outstanding at that date.

Operating revenues for the 12 months were $87,097,619, an increase of 4.9 per cent over the corresponding period last year.

Charles Zerman, in charge of the men's working clothes, boys and shoe departments of the Stroudsburg J. C. Penney Store, leaves tomorrow for Scranton for assignment with the Penney store there.

Zerman came here from Lebanon in September, 1951. At Scranton

Charles Zerman

he will head the men's clothing department.
